Introduction
The core values of Marist College Ashgrove drive the cybersafety measures outlined below.

While the College’s computer network, internet access, computers and other ICT devices bring great benefit to the teaching and learning programs at Marist and efficient operations of the College, rigorous cybersafety practices for staff and students are in place to ensure a digital culture in keeping with legislative and professional obligations.

This agreement defines student obligations and responsibilities and the nature of possible consequences associated with cybersafety breaches that would undermine a safe College environment. The College's enrolment contract includes the right of staff to investigate the contents of electronic devices brought to school by students and the right to confiscate any ICT device where a breach is deemed to have occurred. Confiscated items may be collected after school. Frequent instances of use at these times will attract further consequences as deemed appropriate by the Head of House.

All students require signed consent prior to using College ICT equipment and other internet-accessible ICT devices on campus. The College accepts no responsibility for the security of students’ personal electronic devices. Students have been provided with lockers to minimise the risk of theft.

The computer network, internet facilities, computers and other ICT devices used on College grounds are for educational purposes appropriate to the College environment. This applies whether the ICT device is owned or leased in whole or in part by the College and used on or off the College site.
