Developing Organisation Skills in Kids

Homework & study
Homework is an important part of learning, but sometimes parents find it hard to keep up with what needs to be done. There are a range of resources to point you in the right direction at www.schoolatoz.com

COMPUTERS can be a distraction, set clear expectations for use.
At the start of the term, help your child create folders on his computer for each subject.

If you can, go with your child to buy the necessary stationery and equipment required for each term.
It can be a great opportunity to talk about organisation and a chance to work out smart ways to stay organised at school.
